Complaint has been made that the twostory brick building at 1416 and 1418 32d street is regarded as a nulsance, being in a dilapidated condition, and having had no repairs for a numbers of years. Mr. Geo. Freeman some time ago wrote to the Commissioners relative to existing conditions, and the report was found to be well founded by the office of the building inspector. There is no owner to the property, several people claiming to have the title vested in The place is occupied as a secondhand furniture store and curiosity shop by an aged woman, who, however, is now in Canada, but who has claimed to own property and has endeavored to sell it for Finding no owner to make the needed improvements and to prevent the filing of a possible law suit in the future, the District government is now doing the work. An old building in the rear of the place has been torn down, while the front entrances, the first floor being about three ing rebricked and made as small as possible. Railings will be placed on either side, and the cost of all of the improvements will be charged against the property.

Effort to Rebuild Church,

The Salem Baptist Church held its regular business meeting last evening, beginning at 8 o'clock, at which time the pastor, Rev. J. D. Herben, introduced plans by which to redeem the present site on which the church now stands. The appeal for funds resulted in contributions aggregating $750.

Other plans were presented for the purpose of raising the sum of $10,000 this year to rebuild the church edifice which was blown down in the fall of 1896. This is be accomplished through solicitation of funds by the pastor, Rev. J. D. Herben, who is regarded as an energetic pastor. He will leave the city next week in the interest of the Salem Church.

DAUGHTERS GIVE A TEA

CELEBRATE ANNIVERSARY OF GEN. WASHINGTON'S MARRIAGE DAY.

The Occasion Remembered Also by Seven Thousand Chapters Throughout the United States.

The District Daughters of the American Revolution celebrated a wedding anniversary yesterday afternoon which is not numbered among the conventional anniversaries that call for social functions in their observances. Hitherto the diamond jubilee for seventy-five years of wedded happiness has borne off the palm. The wedding anniversary celebrated yesterday was that of George Washington and Martha Custis, which took place in quaint colonial style January 17, new style, 1759, just 143 years

The tea was the initial observance by the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution of this anniversary, but it is said that it will henceforth be one of their "white days in memory's album," so eminently successful did it prove to be. Mrs. Mary S. Lockwood, one of the found-ers of the national society and regent of the District of Columbia chapters, said that 7,000 chapters throughout the United States were at the same hour observing the anniversary in some patriotic way. The movement was almost spontaneous and has been received with every evidence of enthusiastic pleasure by the nearly 40,000 women who comprise the great national society. The president general, Mrs. Fairbanks, was particularly interested in the observance of the day, and has most energetically superintended the promulgation of the sentiment. The Washington Club rooms, where the tea was held from 4 to 8 o'clock, were simply decorated with flowers and flags, the whole of the first floor being given over to the reception of guests, while the banquet hall, wreathed in evergreens, was occupied by the dainty tea tables. Mrs. Mary Smith-Lockwood, district re gent, received the guests, nearly two thou-sand in number, and Mrs. H. T. Guss presented them. Stationed throughout the parlors were the regents or representatives of the "thirteen original" chapters of the District, forming a general receiving party. They were as follows: Dolly Madison, Mrs. Henry Mann: Army and Navy, Mrs. Char-lotte Main; Constitution, Mrs. Ellen Spencer Mussey; Martha Washington, Mrs. Lil-lian Rooam; Mary Washington, Mrs. Mc-Cahill; Columbia, Mrs. J. D. Croissant; Elizabeth Jackson, Mrs. Mary Camfield Wysong; America chapter, Mrs. Patty Miller Stocking; Manor House, Mrs. Green-wood Stanley; Meriam Danforth, Mrs. Belle M. Draper; Lucy Halcomb, Mrs. John W. Holcomb, and the baby chapter, Katharine Montgomery, Miss Mary Desha. Continental Chapter was not officially represented. It is in mourning for its late regent, Mrs. Mary S. Gist, who died less than two weeks ago. There was great regret expressed at the enforced absence of the president general until the last moment of the reception. Mrs. Fairbanks several weeks ago accepted an invitation to be the guest of honor at a reception of the Daughters of the American Revolution in Baltimore, and the dates conflicted, but the District chapters did not perfect their plans until after she

Representatives of National Board. The national board was represented by Mrs. J. C. Burrows, vice president general; Miss Mary Desha and Mrs. A. Howard Clark, honorary vice presidents general for life; Miss Minnie Mickley, registrar general; Miss Hetzel, historian general; Miss McBlair, library general.

Miss Maybelle Brooks, sister of Mrs. H. T. Guss, presided at one punch bowl, and the "baby" of the national society, Miss Mc-Cahill, who is just old enough to wear the coveted distaff and wheel, presided at the other. At the tea tables, fragrant with pink roses and bright with candles glowing under silk flag shades, were a bevy of prettily gowned matrons and young ladies. They were Mrs. Mertz, Mrs. Kaen and Misses Lockwood, Wilson, Finckel, Grieg, Chamberlain, Moncure, Middleton, Heath and Townsend. Among the guests were hundreds of daughters from all sections of the country.

A string band, located in an alcove, played throughout the reception hours. Many of the callers remained till the last moment, and in a delightfully informal manner be gan dancing. "Sir Richard de Coverly" and "Grandmamma's Minuet" were speedily followed by the "Virginia Reel." long parlors the lines formed, and the dance-courtesy, graceful old-fashioned swing, romp up the middle and down the outside—held full sway for half an hour.

An unexpected "wedding" present quite delighted the daughters. The present is a copy of Boydell's engraving of Benjamin West's picture of William Penn's treaty with the Indians. The picture, which is made from the original copperplate, was presented to Mrs. Lockwood, district regent, by Mr. Horace I. Smith, who is a descend-ent of James Logan, the first chief justice of the province of Pennsylvania, and who stands next to Penn in the picture. Mr. Smith found the original copperplate in London, England, recently, and bought it, bringing it to Philadelphia. The engrav-ing is said to be one of the best specimens of its kind for that early day, and is about two and a half by three feet in size. Mrs. Lockwood has announced her intention of having the picture framed to place in the Continental Hall for the benefit of teas and entertainments all in the United States were given vesterday

After singing by the congregation Mr. Butler introduced to the audience Rev. Prof. E. N. Kirby to speak of and read from the tragedy of Macbeth. Prof. Kirby, in his introduction, said that Macbeth represents a mature example of Shakespearean genius. "Literature at its best is always a revelation of life," and Macbeth is no exception to this rule.

"The principal characters-Macbeth and Lady Macbeth—are examples of unrelenting ambition, the latter even worse than the former. The central revelation of the story is not only the defeat of pride and ambition, but it presents as well the horrible picture of the workings of conscience. The only redeeming thing in Macbeth and Lady Macbeth is their devotion to each other."

Prof. Kirby then proceeded to read from the play, closely holding the attention of is large audience. During the offering a solo was rendered by Mr. Little. The benediction was pronounced by Rev. Geo. Brodthage, St. John's The Christian Endeavor Society of the church, under the president, Miss Minnie Rick, served refreshments subsequently in Reports for the Fourth Quarter-The Relief Fund.

The Department of Potomac Woman's Relief Corps has just closed its fourth quarter's work, and reports have been received from the several corps. Mrs. Margaret B. Tew and her staff are busy making up their annual returns for the coming department convention.

For the fourth quarter's work, it is reported, there has been collected for relief $375.04; expended. $236.33; estimated value of relief other than money, $338.75; total for relief, $575.08, and over 235 old soldiers, their widows and orphans have been helped by contributions of money, food, fuel and clothing.

Mrs. Tew has been for the past two weeks looking out for a permanent home in this city for the ex-army nurse, Miss Grace McGee, who was found wandering in the streets not long ago. Miss McGee does not care to be sent to a home outside of the city, so one will be secured here. There are two candidates in the field for department president, Mrs. Lida Oldroyd, past president of Lincoln Corps, and presient for several years of their sewing circle, and Mrs. J. Edelin Arrested An inquest will be held at the sixth precinct station at 11 o'clock Monday morning in order to determine the place and manner of death of John Ward, colored, of 814 K street southeast. Robert Edelin, also colored, who lives at 1329 D street southeast, is under arrest at the fifth precinct station, charged with having caused Ward's death.

The men, who earned their living driving coal carts and putting away coal, met in Simpson's coal yard at 648 Pennsylvania avenue southeast yesterday afternoon and were skylarking. Their fun ended, it is alleged, by Edelin throwing a brick and fracturing Ward's skull. It was about 2:30 o'clock when the affair occurred, and the victim died at the Emergency Hospital about 9 o'clock. Policeman Cullinane of the fifth precinct arrested Edelin shortly after 4 o'clock and locked him up, charging him was changed to with assault. This charge one of murder when it was ascertained that the injured man had died.

Edelin and Ward were about the coal yard with other colored men, and being friends and having nothing to do they began joking. There was no threatening lan-guage used, according to the statements of disinterested persons, nor did the men seem to be especially angry. Ward, it is alleged, picked up a missile, a piece of coal or brick, and pretended he was going to strike his friend with whom he had been engaged in a bout. Edelin stooped and picked up a piece of brick when he saw threw the piece of brick and was greatly surprised when he saw Ward fall. He could hardly realize what he had done, but as Ward had been injured Edelin concluded he would do what he could to help him. Instead of running away, as he was advised to do, he remained and rendered what assistance he could until the arrival of the ambulance, when he assisted in lifting the wounded man to the vehicle. Ward was unconscious when he reached the hospital and his condition was so serious that the doctors had no idea they would be able to save his life. Policeman Cullinane reached the coal yard before Edelin left and placed The prisoner could not understand why

CONFIDENT OF WINNING.

Italian Count is Walking Around the World on Wager. Signor Reggio Salvatore, an Italian noble man of Rome, arrived in the city yesterday. He is making a walk around the world, having been engaged in his globetrotting expedition for about ten months. Since that time he has traversed most of continental Europe and a part of the states. Signor Salvatore, who is handsome, with sun-browned face and danging black eyes. is making the circuit of the globe without money. If he accomplishes the task, however, he will receive $20,000, as he says that amount of money awaits him in "sunny Italy," having been deposited as a wager. He is a member of the Union Pedestro Italiana, and has gained considerable renown as a pedestrian. lenged Salvatore's club to produce an athlete who could walk around the Salvatore was selected by lot, and started He traveled through Italy, France and England.
